

Dear Iowa State University Community:

The Division of Student Affairs looks to the Professional & Scientific Council as a critical partner and resource when it comes to advocacy and service for our P&S staff. With their focus on initiatives such as mentoring, health and wellness, professional development, and diversity and inclusion, P&S councilors ensure that the university and its students are benefiting from well trained, committed, and engaged professionals.

The P&S Council offers tremendous leadership opportunities for division staff. P&S Councilors—that are representatives from the division—not only help us serve our staff better, they also provide the necessary connections across campus to help us serve our students better. Members of the council from across the university, create far-reaching collaborations, partnerships and networking opportunities that are essential to our mission of student success.

I fully endorse the initiatives of the P&S Council, and encourage you to support staff participation in this important university organization.

Sincerely,

A handwritten signature in black ink, appearing to read "Martino Harmon", with a long horizontal flourish extending to the right.

Martino Harmon, Ph.D.
Senior Vice President for Student Affairs